

BRIEF SUMMARY

A motivated and curious IT student with a solid grounding in programming and analytical problem-solving. Though I have experience with hands-on coding with HTML, CSS, and JavaScript, I am intrigued towards designing scalable systems and furthering expertise in Java and server-side programming. I appreciate learning how software architecture is composed and how individual components cooperate to build effective applications. In addition to technical skills, I contribute teamwork spirit, flexibility, and effective communication to team settings. I'm looking for opportunities where I can make significant contributions to meaningful projects, while ongoingly learning and growing both professionally and personally.
